The Heart of Crossways

Crossways Community always endeavours to put Jesus at the centre. All the support and care staff are Christians, with a heart for serving God and vulnerable people through their work. Residents' needs are regularly prayed for, and there is a chapel/reflection time in the middle of each day where staff and residents alike can focus on God. On top of required care and support standards, Crossways' core focus is on Jesus, with the knowledge that His love can heal people and make them whole.

Staff at Crossways' houses, No 8, Culverdale and flats work within national care and support standards, to provide appropriate care. Staff ensure that, through regular contact with professionals such as psychiatrists, community psychiatric nurses, social workers and GPs, the mental health needs of our residents are met. For many residents the friendships developed whilst living at Crossways, and being part of a nurturing community, is a stepping stone in itself to achieving mental health.

Equality and Acceptance

In Society, people with mental health difficulties sometimes feel they are labelled unfairly. At Crossways, we believe that everyone is equal no matter what their needs. Staff recognise that each resident is precious in God's eyes and therefore treated with dignity and respect with the hope that the residents will view themselves in the same way.
